AMERICAN ASSN. FOR RECOGNITION OF THE IRISH REPUBLIC

There will be a meeting of the Joseph Murphy Council of the above organization on Thursday evening, February 3, 1921, at Cosmopolitan hall, 79th and Halsted Sts. All members and their friends are urgently requested to attend this meeting as preparations are being made for a mass meeting at the Seventh Regiment Armory on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 6th, to extend a cordial welcome to Mary McSweeney, sister of the late Lord Mayor of Cork, who will arrive in Chicago on this date.

It is no longer a question of whether Ireland should be free or not, but how soon she shall get her freedom. Right, justice and "a decent respect for the opinion of mankind" are the greatest influences we have to use. We, therefore, extend a cordial invitation to the liberty-loving people in this district to attend our meeting on next Thursday evening and become members of the American Association.

WATCHFUL POLICEMAN FINDS MARKET OPEN

Chief Fitzmorris need not worry about his force, if all of his subordinates were like Officer Gavin of the South Englewood station.

One night last week Mr. H. Kenney, in his haste, left the doors of his meat market at 7814 S. Halsted St. unlocked. Our efficient patrolman friend discovered this, notified Mr. Kenney and kept a close eye on the place till Mr. Kenney arrived and locked the doors.

The friends of Mr. Francis Ashton of 7938 May St. will be grieved to hear of his death, which occurred on last Wednesday. He was buried in Mt. Hope on Saturday. He is survived by his widow, three sons and three daughters.

Miss Irene Patterson, who has been teaching school in Wheaton, Ill., has been home this week with a severe cold.

St. Sabina's card party on Thursday, Jan. 26th, was a huge success.

The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Kilian's parish are planning another pre-lenten bunco and card party, to be held on Thursday, Feb. 3rd.

The week of Feb. 6th to 12th will be observed as Boy Scout Birthday Week. During this week the merchants throughout the Southwest District have been asked to speak a good word for the movement in their advertisements. The pastors are planning special services in their respective churches for Sunday, Feb. 6th, for the boys as well as adults. Information regarding the Scout organization will be given in sermons at these services. The following have announced their services for the Scout Sunday, Feb. 6th: Emerald Ave. Presbyterian church, 67th St. and Emerald Ave., will hold a special service in the morning at 10:30 o'clock. CARE OF TEETH

By Dr. H. N. Novy

All questions relative to the care of teeth, mouth hygiene, etc., if of general interest, will be answered in this column. When space will not permit, letters will be personally answered.

A great humanitarian campaign has been set into motion throughout this country in the past year to combat the evil influences of bad teeth and the dangerous infections that result from them.

The men back of this movement have agreed unanimously that the most effective weapon to check the prevalence of bad mouths is to begin working on the little men and women—the children.

The newspapers, schools and churches have all joined hands in spreading this movement and with the co-operation of the mothers assured, it will be just a question of time but what this movement will begin to bear fruit.

The Auburn Park Community Booster is particularly proud of the role it is playing in supporting this great campaign through the medium of this column.

To the mothers of the tots, from 2 to 6 years of age, a word of caution and advice: Too many of you have been painfully negligent of your children's teeth, for reasons unexplainable. Whether to attribute that to ignorance or indifference is beyond the writer's knowledge, nevertheless it is a well known fact that mother's have failed miserably in this particular duty to the little ones. The average parents are of the opinion that the temporary teeth are of little importance for the simple reason that they will soon be replaced by the permanent set. A very erroneous impression, indeed, for these first teeth are the only means by which he has of chewing his food and must last the child until the permanent teeth arrive, which is anywhere from 6 to 12 years of age. If they are lost through decay it means the child's stomach will suffer as the food is not properly prepared to be received by that organ. Did you mothers ever stop to realize the serious consequences that may result from the mixing of food with the decayed material and pus from the teeth that are rotting away? Do you know that the blame for the many sleepless nights and the suffering of the poor innocent child may be all placed upon your shoulders? Why assume such responsiblity when an occasional visit to the family dentist will avoid all these troubles? You all wish your children to have as nearly perfect teeth as possible. If you do, watch that temporary tooth. Deformed jaws, peaked faces and undeveloped nasal bones are some of the few sad results of the neglect and premature loss of the temporary set.

The fond parent means well, but for some reason or other they fail to understand the importance of the temporary teeth.

As a general rule the eruption of the temporary teeth may be said to begin about the seventh month after birth and is completed somewhere about the thirtieth month. Variations may occur, however, for some children may be born with teeth erupted, and again no teeth may come in until the twelfth month, or even later.

These teeth erupt in groups and it is believed that the period which elapses between the eruption of these different groups permits the child to recover from the effects of the previous eruption before a new source of irritation appears. Usually there is more or less local disturbances, such as intestinal troubles, loss of sleep, etc., asociated with the eruption of teeth and were nature not to allow certain intervals to elapse between eruption of teeth, serious consequences would result.

When the child is about two and a half years of age the mother should be able to count ten teeth in the upper jaw and ten in the lower, twenty together, completing the temporary set. This score of teeth should all be perfect, as nature meant them to be, and then is the time when the child should begin to visit the dentist at regular intervals. It is taken for granted that the mother knows when the child is teething. Space will not permit the writer to enter into a lengthy discussion of the abnormal eruption of the teeth, as it will be discussed at some later date. However if the child suffers for an unusually long period and displays symptoms of fretfulness, anger, restlessness, thirst, mild fever be on your guard. These symptoms usually subside upon the eruption of the tooth or lancing.

A word or two as to the treatment of painful eruption of temporary teeth would not go amiss. First the preventative measures include care as to the preparation of milk or modified milk diet, sterilization of bottles, bottle nipples and rings, keeping unclean fingers out of mouth of child and the antiseptic care of mouth by frequent washings with a solution of boric acid in water. This last may be applied to the mouth on a soft linen rag wrapped on forefinger. These measures together with the proper feeding, ventilation and care as to clothing, which should give comfort and not be in any way irritating, tend to prevent intestinal disturbances and to reduce the general irritability of the infant.

To reduce the inflammation of the gum above an erupting tooth, a common home treatment is valuable, viz: a small block of ice is placed in a corner of a clean napkin and held in place by a thread; the infant may place it in its mouth at pleasure if old enough, or the mother may permit the child to bite upon it. The mechanical effect of biting upon this hard and cold piece of ice lessens the inflammation of the gum tissue around the erupting tooth. Any severe and prolonged local irritation during the period of dentition (teething) warrants consulting the family physician or dentist.

Any and all questions in regard to this article or any other subject pertinent to mouth hygiene and care of teeth will be cheerfully answered through this column.

Next week, the first permanent tooth, the six-year molar, will be discussed.

A surprise was given in honor of Miss Mary Horan at her residence, 8110 Peoria St., on Friday evening, Jan. 21st. The guest of honor was the Rev. W. J. Roberts. Others present were the Misses Clare McNally, Bernice Carey, Winifred Vail, Alice Maher, Margaret Ryan, Anna Callahan, Helen Spiro, Bernadette Shewbridge, Grace Donavan, Marie Callahan, Dorothy Donahue, Agnes Falahee, Eileen Lonergan, Margaret Hollinan, Gertrude McCann, Marie Gallagher.

The card party given on last Wednesday evening by the Holy Name Society of St. Kilian's parish was a wonderful success, both financially and socially.

Miss Catherine Wise of 8646 Aberdeen St., who was struck by a machine on Sunday, Jan. 16th, at 87th St. and Racine Ave., is improving nicely at the Mercy hospital.

Miss Hertha Sorenson of 8600 Carpenter St. has recovered from the grippe.

A card party for the benefit of the Protestant Children's Aid will be given at Auburn Park Masonic Temple Monday, Feb. 7th, at 8 p. m. Come and have a good time; "500" will be the game.

Sister Dominic, the 8th grade teacher at St. Kilian's school, is ill with pneumonia.

The Elliot family of Sangamon St. and 86th Pl. are spending the winter in California.

THE PROCESS OF LAW-MAKING

Most of the legislatures of 48 states are now in session, and some fearful and wonderful attempts at law-making are offered to public view.

No concern of daily life is so intimate but that some one wants it regulated by law. The freak bills, however, are soon laughed out of sight. Others of a more dangerous character read very innocently on the surface. Examination and investigation shows that they were offered to meet the needs of some private interest and they would be an injury to the general public.

A competent examination of all these propositions is not an easy task. The range of subjects covered by the requests for law-making is so wide, that each proposition must be submitted to a small group delegated to study that class of subjects.

The results of a legislature's work depend very largely on the quality of service rendered by committees. If the appointment of the same is made to please politicians, and if the most brainy and thorough men are buried in unimportant posts, or put in places where they do not belong, the committees will let a lot of jokers slip through. Many sound propositions will be turned down because they represent a new idea which sluggish minded men cannot grasp.

Good committee work is often spoiled by the poor attendance of members. The man who is given the responsibility and honor of making laws for the state of Illinois should attend every session of each committee on which he is appointed. He ought to spend much time in personal study of the propositions that come up. Legislators may think the public does not appreciate this faithful service, and is more attracted to tonguey politicians who shake hands much and think little. But good, thorough work tells. The legislator who knows his subject from the ground up commands power, and is soon marked as a rising man.

Bill Hohenzollern is saying nothing and sawing wood. But he'd be yelling his head off at the size of your 1920 income tax if he were doing the collecting.

Mrs. Lambright of 7725 S. Morgan St. was hostess at a bunco party given on Friday afternoon, Jan. 21st. for the benefit of Faith Ev. Lutheran Ladies' Aid. A delightful afternoon was spent by all and a very liberal purse presented to the ladies.

Miss Florence Heale, formerly of 34 W. 70th Pl., died last week in Colorado Springs. Her body was brought to Chicago for burial and the funeral took place at 8 o'clock Friday morning from the Englewood Rock Island Station. Interment was at Mt. Hope.

The marriage of Miss Helen R. Considine, a former resident of Auburn Park, to Mr. Everett W. Shingleton of Woodlawn has been announced. The event was a surprise to all her friends, though not an unpleasant one. Miss Considine met Mr. Shingleton about seven months ago at a party given by one of her friends in Englewood, and as the young couple have proved, it was "love at first sight." They were married the 29th of December at St. Bernard's church by the Right Rev. Father Ryan. Their friends wish them a world of happiness.

Would like to join or form a small club of ladies; references if necessary. Address C. L., Auburn Booster.
